A MBA and an Engineer go on a camping trip, set up their tent, and fall asleep.

Some hours later, the Engineer wakes his MBA friend – “Look up at the sky and tell me what you see”

The MBA replies, “I see millions of stars.”

The Engineer asks “What does that tell you?”

The MBA ponders for a minute:

“Astronomically speaking, it tells me that there are millions of galaxies and potentially billions of planets.

Astrologically, it tells me that Saturn is in Leo. Time wise, it appears to be approximately a quarter past three.

Meteorologically, it seems we will have a beautiful day tomorrow.

What does it tell you?”

The Engineer friend is silent for a moment, and then speaks – “Practically, Someone has stolen our tent”.

Lesson for Living a Fuller Life

A philosophy professor stood before her class and had some items in front of her. When the class began, silently she picked up a large empty mayonnaise jar and proceeded to fill it with rocks. She then asked the students if the jar was full. They agreed that it was. So the professor then picked up a box of pebbles and poured them into the jar. She shook the jar lightly. The pebbles, of course, rolled into the open areas between the rocks. She then asked the students again if the jar was full. They again agreed it was.

The professor picked up a box of sand and poured it into the jar. Of course, the sand filled up everything else. Now, said the professor, I want you to recognize that this is your life. The rocks are the important things - your family, your partner, your health, your children - things that if everything else was lost and only they remained, your life would still be full. The pebbles are the other things that matter like your job, your house, your car. The sand is everything else. The small stuff. If you put the sand into the jar first, there is no room for the pebbles or the rocks. The same goes for your life. If you spend all your time and energy on the small stuff, you will never have room for the things that are important to you. Pay attention to the things that are critical to your happiness. Play with your children. Take time to get medical check-ups. Take your partner out dancing. There will always be time to go to work, clean the house, give a dinner party and fix the disposal. Take care of the rocks first - the things that really matter. Set your priorities. The rest is just sand.

PTA Membership Contest

This year Anthem Rockets are Firing Up the Membership Rocket! The school will have a rocket displayed in the cafeteria and each teacher will have a "flame" with their name on it. When parents and/or students join the PTA, the teacher's flame will be posted below the school rocket and move up as more members join. The class with the most members, including the teacher, will be rewarded with a "Moon-Pie Party" in November. So ask parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and friends to join Anthem School PTA today! Go Rockets!!

Don't Forget

Every Friday is School Spirit Day at Anthem School!! Wear your Spiritwear or School Colors with Pride!!
